

Church End

St Leonards church, new meeting room, gate to new burial ground and covered area for outside services

Heading towards Basingstoke

Breach Lane

This small group of houses replaced the modern vicarage. There were some issues about the exact boundary of the plot with that of the chapel, as definitive maps could not be found. Percy Sims and a couple of others had to swear affidavits about the position of the boundary!

Breach Lane, across the A33

The lady in this house is a keen gardener. A few years ago won a national competition for her garden. She sells some of her plants.
