

Along the Reading Road

On dustbin day!

- Pound Meadow was developed early 1990s.

- For about 10 years, until “lockdown”, the post office had become a vegan-orientated coffee shop/gift shop/post office. But it will not reopen as it will not be viable. The property was rented from, Ken Dodd, who owns and runs “The Shop”.
- He has taken over and will open and run a new business directly - a regular coffee shop/post office in a few weeks time.
- The White Hart is now a Young’s pub which has just reopened.

- Rear view of Village Hall, with the Liddell Hall in the foreground left.
- The Garage at Sherfield, took over from Dodd's some years ago. Access to the garage is only via the gravel track at the rear. The front of the former garage, on the old Reading Road, is now a hairdressing salon and a flat.